

Packaging, labeling, and shipping cremated remains for your Pet's Memorial Reef

We will send a free Cremated Remains shipping kit from the United States Postal Service (USPS) to the mailing address on your order form.

Kits are not available for pick-up at your local post office.

Follow the instructions with the shipping kit to ensure safe delivery. For further information, the United States Postal Service shows the process in this video:

Cremated remains should be shipped to us via USPS Priority Express (UPS, Fed Ex, and DSL do not allow the shipment of cremated remains, nor will they deliver to our PO Box). You are responsible for the cost of shipping the cremated remains to us, which depends on weight and distance – check with USPS for further cost information. This method provides peace of mind, as it includes tracking and is quick, usually arriving in 2 days. However, we will accept packages if they are mailed differently.

You may choose to send all or some of your pet's cremated remains to be included in the Memorial Reef. Containers will not be returned, so please do not send cremated remains in an urn or container you wish to keep.

When preparing the shipping label, please email us your tracking number so we can track your package from your location to ours. Use the address closest to the reef you chose.
